

Green Congregation Challenge

Southern New England Conference
United Church of Christ

The Green Congregation Challenge is a step-by-step approach that helps churches take small, but consequential, steps towards protecting God's Creation.

Complete action items in five different categories to receive Green Congregation recognition.

Educate - for example: Form a study group that reads about climate change and reflects on God's call to care for Creation

Organize - for example: Start a church Green Team to discern which actions your congregation might take

Reduce/Recycle/Rethink - for example: Switch to a renewable energy supplier or install solar panels on your sanctuary roof

Connect - for example: Explore online resources at sneucc.org/environmental-ministries

Advocate - for example: Send letters to your elected officials sharing why environmental justice matters to you as a person of faith

sneucc.org/green-congregation-challenge

Rev. Emma Brewer-Wallin, Minister of Environmental & Economic Justice - brewer-walline@sneucc.org

Green Congregation Challenge

Southern New England Conference
United Church of Christ

The Green Congregation Challenge is a step-by-step approach that helps churches take small, but consequential, steps towards protecting God's Creation.

Complete action items in five different categories to receive Green Congregation recognition.

Educate -- for example: Form a study group that reads about climate change and reflects on God's call to care for Creation

Organize - for example: Start a church Green Team to discern which actions your congregation might take

Reduce/Recycle/Rethink - for example: Switch to a renewable energy supplier or install solar panels on your sanctuary roof

Connect - for example: Explore online resources at sneucc.org/environmental-ministries

Advocate - for example: Send letters to your elected officials sharing why environmental justice matters to you as a person of faith

sneucc.org/green-congregation-challenge

Rev. Emma Brewer-Wallin, Minister of Environmental & Economic Justice - brewer-walline@sneucc.org